

Withdrawal Notice

Important notice of your right to cancel agreement

You have a right to withdraw from the contract within the 10 business day cooling-off period. You can withdraw from the contract without penalty within the period of 10 business days starting on the last of the following days:

- a. the first business day after the day on which the contract starts;
- b. the first business day after the day on which we give you a complete copy of the contract; and
- c. the first business day after the day on which you receive our disclosure statement.

Extended right to terminate the contract

If the supplier has not complied with the law in relation to unsolicited consumer agreements, you also have a right to terminate the contract by contacting the supplier, either orally or in writing. Refer to the information attached to this agreement. You may have up to 6 months to terminate the contract in certain circumstances.

To terminate the contract in writing, complete this notice and send it to the supplier. Alternatively, write a letter or send an email or fax to the supplier.

Emails can be sent to: customerservice@gee.com.au
